Shootout suspect released on bond

Jackie Murphy, 71, is charged with attempting to shoot Stanford Police Officer Tim Morris Aug. 20.

Preliminary hearing for man charged with firing gun at Stanford officer set for Oct. 22

STANFORD — The Harrodsburg man who was wounded after shooting at a Stanford police officer has been released from custody after being discharged from the hospital and posting bond.

Jackie Murphy, who is charged with the attempted murder of Officer Tim Morris, posted a $200,000 property bond on Friday, the day he was released from the medical facility at the Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange, said Lisa Lamb, spokeswoman for the Department of Corrections.

Murphy, 71, had been treated at the state facility since the Aug. 20 shooting, when he was shot four times below the waist by Morris after allegedly opening fire on the officer in the parking lot of the Stanford Walmart.

Murphy's attorney, David Marshall of Nicholasville, entered a 'not guilty' plea on his client's behalf during an arraignment last week in Lincoln District Court.

A preliminary hearing scheduled for Monday was postponed until Oct. 22 after Marshall requested that Murphy undergo a mental competency evaluation. Lincoln District Judge Janet Booth has not yet ruled on the request, Marshall said Tuesday.

According to police, Murphy was confronted inside Walmart by store security after he appeared to be shoplifting some sandpaper. Murphy fled the store and then opened fire on Morris, who had just arrived in response to the shoplifting call, police said.

According to friends in Harrodsburg, Murphy had served in combat during the Vietnam War and had appeared to be under increased stress in the days leading up to the shooting incident.

Escapee plans to turn himself in to sheriff

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

LOUISVILLE — A prisoner who escaped from custody in Louisville Monday was planning to turn himself in at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office Wednesday, Sheriff Curt Folger said.

Louis Taylor, 24, allegedly escaped from a correction center in Louisville Monday.

Police were considering Taylor, who has apparent ties to Lincoln County, dangerous, according to reports.

Folger said he received a phone call from Taylor around 11 a.m. Tuesday.

"I've been in contact with him and he's supposed to … turn himself in tomorrow morning," Folger said Tuesday afternoon. "But I don't know if he's going to or not."

Folger said Taylor was not currently in Lincoln County but was planning to turn himself in at the sheriff's office in downtown Stanford.

Wanted man arrested after on-foot pursuit

By Ben Kleppinger

STANFORD — Lincoln County sheriff's deputies arrested a man wanted in multiple counties after an on-foot pursuit Sunday.

Jeffery E. Hall, 31, of Waynesburg, was arrested on outstanding warrants from Garrard and Boyle counties for failure to pay child support and failure to pay fines, Sheriff Curt Folger said.

Deputies Keith Coffman and Gary Brummett encountered Hall while they were at a residence near Somerset Oil on U.S. 27 south of Stanford, preparing to serve a warrant on another individual, Deputy Ryan Kirkpatrick said.

The two deputies found

SPOOKY SCIENCE

Educator Jason Lindsey, also known as "The Science Guy," paid a visit to McGuffey Sixth Grade Center Oct. 4 to wow Lincoln County students with some Halloween-themed science experiments.
Lindsey used a bucket with a round hole in the bottom and a piece of tarp to create an air cannon that could shoot smoke ring "ghosts" through the air, knocking cups off of students heads from across the room.
As students watched with wide eyes, he also used explosive gas to blow out the eyes, nose and mouth of a jack-o-lantern.

Schools could see lower scores under new system

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — Lincoln County school officials aren't exactly sure what they're going to find when they unwrap the district's new accountability and testing scores later this month, but they're prepared for an across-the-board drop in proficiency.

The anticipated drop wouldn't be due to students performing worse than before; it would be due to new state standards that expect more from "proficient" students, Superintendent Karen Hatter said.

"The bar has been raised on where that proficiency is, particularly in reading and math," Hatter said.

Statewide math and reading scores under the new Kentucky Rating for Education Progress system — known as K-PREP — are projected by the state Department of Education to be 25-30 percentage points lower than in previous years.

But that figure needs some context, because the new K-PREP scores won't be directly comparable to old scores determined under the previous CATS system, said Pam Hart, Lincoln Schools' chief deputy of quality management.

"It would be like comparing the scores of a football game and a basketball game," Hart said. "The numbers are the same but they mean different things."

Hart said under CATS, academic achievement was Stanford boy recovering from hayride accident

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — An 8-year-old boy who was severely injured during a church hayride is recuperating at home after a nearly three-week stay in the hospital.

Jalen Smith of Stanford was airlifted to the University of Kentucky Children's Hospital Sept. 16 after his leg was crushed in an accident during a hayride.

Jalen's mother, Jacqueline Smith, said the accident broke both of the main bones in Jalen's leg.

Jalen underwent four surgical operations, including a muscle transplant, nerve reconstruction and two skin grafts, Jacqueline said.

The pain of Jalen's injury was extreme, and remains a major issue even now that he's home.

"It has been the most difficult thing I've ever been through as a parent to have to watch him be in pain," Jacqueline said. "It's been very difficult."

While he was in the hospital, Jalen was visited by countless friends and had special visits from UK Wildcats' wide receiver Aaron Boyd, Lexington

IJ OPINION

Newspaper future looks hopeful

By Caroline Little
Newspaper Association of America

There's an excessive amount of gloom and doom being spread around these days when the talk turns to the future of newspapers. In fact, the mere mention of the future of newspapers suggests that there might not be one. There is no question that the newspaper business has been disrupted. And yet, what the doomsayers fail to see is that newspapers are well on their way to ensuring that a bright future lies ahead.

It has been painful to bring costs in line with revenue and recast the product to reflect the realities of the new media world. But one thing that has not changed is our historic mission of informing and enlightening, agitating and entertaining, protecting and defending the public's right to know.

Without question, the newspaper of tomorrow will not be the newspaper of yesterday or even the newspaper of today. Change and innovation are pointing us toward a very different future, one that cements our unique role in the communities we serve.

Just a few years ago, we were a print business with digital on the side. Today, we are bringing together print, web and mobile, and opening the possibilities for even greater advancements that now may be only dreams in a young innovator's mind.

Our digital products are growing fast, and our websites have taken the market lead. Indeed, newspapers are the Internet, or at least a vital and sought-after part of it. Aggregators such as Google News rely on newspaper journalism as their primary source for content. Search engines frequently refer people looking for content back to newspaper websites. Among adults 18-plus, our web audience exceeds those of Yahoo/ABC, MSNBC (now NBCNews.com), The Huffington Post, CNN and CBS.

Newspapers reach more than 100 million adults – nearly 6 in 10 of the U.S. adult Internet population – during a typical month. Consumers age 25 and above still are the core audience for our print product, but newspapers also reach nearly 60 percent of the critical 18-to-34 demographic in print and online during an average week.

In an era where anyone can say anything and call it news, it is newspaper content that consistently gets it right and keeps it in context. And a critical part of the industry evolution is the recognition that if you want to separate the serious from the sludge, it might cost you a little money.

Newspapers have proven they can function in print, on websites, in digital partnerships and as part of the social media scene. But they also can do what no one else can do. We are at the heart of our communities. We generate the information and track the local developments that are vital for an informed, engaged citizenry. We offer clarity and perspective, and we provide content that our readers can trust.

Getting to the point we are at now has not been easy. Genuine change is never easy. But we are far closer to our future than our past, and that future is bright.

Local newspapers keep communities connected

By Mike Rogers
Michigan Congressman

We can get our national news on cable television, catch the weather on local broadcast stations, listen to talk radio on the AM or FM dial and follow our favorite blogs on the Internet, but where do we turn for local information that directly impacts our daily lives? More often than not it is community newspapers.

Technology has transformed how we gather information in the 21st Century. Newscycles run 24/7, tablets and laptops are becoming smaller and smart phones keep getting smarter.

As a result most traditional large newspapers are struggling to stay alive – they are more and more frequently printing only two to three times a week, personnel and content are shrinking like never before, and more information is shifted to online editions.

Yet local community newspapers are thriving because they have persistently weathered the storm year in and year out to remain a fixture in our everyday lives. As our societies become more complex and diverse with growing numbers of ways to obtain information, the role of local newspapers in informing our communities becomes even more significant.

We count on them to regularly check in with the courts and police stations. They print announcements on births, deaths, engagements, marriages, anniversaries, church news, job openings, school information and service club endeavors.

They publish notices of local municipal meetings. They print tax increases, millage initiatives, notices of changes in laws and property rezoning – all issues that most directly affect our pocketbooks by determining how our hard-earned tax dollars are spent at the local level and how are local officials are representing us.

They help run the local economic engine and provide a marketplace for the community. They offer local small businesses with an effective and affordable means of connecting with local consumers. They print sales at the supermarket, coupons for discounts at local stores, real estate listings, and classifieds for everything from a used car to a neighbor's garage sale.

It's also personal. Communities feel a sense of ownership in their local newspaper, and the people that report the news are often our friends and neighbors down the street.

News aggregating websites such as Drudge Report and the major news blogs are great at offering up major national and international news and analysis, but they simply do not provide the information on issues that impact us at the local level. It is especially true for the elderly and those with low incomes who often have less access to computers and transportation.

They normally only publish once a week, but community newspapers remain the one constant source of local information. In good times and in bad, they stay focused on us as a community.

Now more than ever, community newspapers are an important binding thread of our cities and towns.

Editor's note: Congressman Mike Rogers represents Michigan's Eighth Congressional District.

No matter what, newspapers are there for you

By Ron Dzwonkowski
Detroit Free Press

Your newspaper will be there for you.

A simple statement, but let's break it down a bit.

Your newspaper … That's right, all yours, assembled just for you, tailored to where you live, emphasizing the things that affect you, keeping track of the people and players in your community. Your newspaper is put together by people in a newsroom that was built for you, where people work to supply information that matters to you, from the details of that crash you passed by on Tuesday to biographies of the candidates for your school board to notices of what's on sale at your local supermarket.

…Will be there for you. Be where? On your porch, in your mail, at your convenience store and, yeah, sometimes in your bushes. But also at your township hall, inside your local police department, attending your city council meeting, watching your elections. It will be where you can't, paying attention, keeping watch, asking questions, making the record public.

And you can take it wherever you're going without worrying about battery life or Wi-Fi connections.

Some say newspapers are dying, that people get their news today from the Internet, TV and radio. But where do the Internet, TV and radio get their news? From the newsrooms of America's newspapers, large and small, which still encompass the nation's largest newsgathering force. Other information providers may add opinion, pictures or sound, but most of the time, the facts begin in the newsrooms of newspapers, where journalists are there for you, cultivating sources, combing through records, asking tough questions.

A few generations back, TV and radio were supposed to be the death of newspapers. Instead, they were catalysts for newspapers to dig further, to offer context, analysis, perspective and storytelling that the electronic media couldn't deliver. TV and radio didn't kill newspapers; they made them deeper, smarter and more thoughtful.

For about a generation now, the Internet has supposedly been driving newspapers into extinction.

Nope. It's just given their newsrooms another platform to deliver journalism that now includes videos, interactive graphics and access to informational archives built for years by … Guess which medium?

Unlike websites and bloggers, newspapers are fixtures in their communities. Most of them were around long before personal computers and smart-phone apps, chronicling life, dissecting trends and exposing things that needed some air. And unlike less-established media, their newsrooms operate with standards and ethics intended to assure the credibility of the information they deliver. They don't just make the record; they protect it, too. It's a responsibility, a trust, a duty.

And while newspapers and their newsrooms have always broken stories, the Internet has now enabled them to cover breaking news, too, with reporting that goes directly up on-line — just as soon as it meets those newsroom standards.

So the evolution continues.

But the mission remains the same: To be there. For you. Because it's your newspaper.

An encouraging word
When compromise is not an option

By Howard Coop

Many years ago when I was a small boy attending a two-roomed country school in Cumberland County, I was introduced to Kentucky history. As a result of that exposure, I developed an interest in, and appreciation for, that subject. That interest led me to study Kentucky history whenever possible in both high school and college, and I found that study rewarding. It helped me to learn a great deal about the state in which I have spent most of my life.

After learning about the settlement of Kentucky, one of the first bits of Kentucky history that I remember from that study involved Henry Clay, one of our state's noted statesman and orator. As a resident of Lexington, Clay, over a number of years, served our state in Washington as an influential member of both the House of Representatives and the Senate. As a Senator nearing the end of his life, he was instrumental in formulating the Compromise of 1850 that led to him forever after becoming known as the "Great Compromiser."

Early in life I learned the meaning of compromise. To compromise a settlement is made between contending groups with some opposing views in which each side agrees to give up some demands and makes some concessions. There are times when compromise may be appropriate and necessary, for the process of give and take may lead to real accomplishment.

As a small boy, the idea of compromise raised a serious question in my mind, for good parents and good teachers had instilled in my mind the idea that, in life, some things are right and some things are wrong; there is to be no compromise. At all time and under all circumstances, one is obligated to stand firm without wavering for that which is known to be right.

There may be, and probably are, times in life when situations develop that make compromise necessary, but when principles of right and wrong are involved, compromise is not a viable option.

Stanford Nazarene Church news

By Buford Edwards II

Sunday morning, Stanford Church of the Nazarene was blessed by the wonderful worship service as we kicked off our revival services. We were challenged by the word of God as Bro. Ron Taylor brought the message from Ephesians 3. On Sunday night, Bro. Ron challenged us on the subject of prayer and sanctification, continuing in Ephesians 3.

Come out Wednesday night for Christian Education Night. Our kids meet weekly and our adult class dubbed, "THE BOOK" club is currently working through the book of Revelation.

This week we will be studying in Rev. 20. Read up and join us for Bible study as we discuss "The Marriage Supper of the Lamb" as well as the verse of the week: Rev. 20:1-3 (KJV): And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years, And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.

Thought for the week: Satan is at work today, but his end will come.

The Jail Ministry meets every Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and the Nursing Home Ministry the first Tuesday of each month at 2 p.m. For more information, or to learn how to get involved, contact the church and leave a message.

The ladies meet the first Tuesday of every month at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. Their next regular meeting will be Nov. 6.

Homecoming is Sunday, Oct. 14. Sunday school is at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m., a dinner will follow the morning worship service, followed by singing and fellowship. There will be no evening service. Join us for this special time of celebration!!

The Men's Group meets every other month on the second Monday of the month. The next meeting is Oct. 15 at 7 p.m.

Our annual "Trunk or Treat" will be held Saturday, Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. in the church parking lot. Dress the younguns up and come out for an evening of fellowship and good clean fun!

On Wednesday, Nov. 28, we will be trying something new! Instead of our regular Bible study, we will be meeting at the fellowship hall for a "chili night." We are opening this up to the entire community as a chance to come eat and receive an encouraging word from Scripture. Hopefully, we will be able to do this once a month. So, make a pot of chili and invite everyone you know to come out and join us!

The church has an active food assistance program. If you know of anyone or have a need yourself, leave a message at the church.

Service times: Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., Sunday morning worship begins at 11 a.m., Sunday evening services at 6 p.m., and Christian Education Night is every Wednesday beginning at 7 p.m.

For more information about our youth group and children's programs, email the directors by logging on to our website at www.stanfordchurchofthenazarene.com.

If you would like more information about our church and events, contact Pastor Buford Edwards at (606) 365-1260 or visit us on the web. Don't forget to also "like" the Stanford Church of the Nazarene on Facebook to receive updates and an encouraging word.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

Bo Upton

October 11, 1983 ~ February 1, 2002

Bo,

On Earth today you would be 29. Thank you for the memories that are forever in this heart of mine.

No one can talk away the pain, as grief drains most words of their power anyway. If Heaven wasn't so far away, I could go see you every day.

I feel that my deep hurt represents how deeply that I love you. Bo, I feel you pulling for me to make it through this lonely journey of life of not having you here with me and what you do does gentle me forward.

One of the real pains of death is separation. There is an invisible blanket between me and the world and Bo's absence is like the sky spread over everything. Loosing you Bo is a wound that God helps me manage as God knows the wound will always be opened and will hurt for life. God is reaching down from on high and is holding me. He is the great comforter as the Lord is nigh unto them that are of a broken heart. Violent death is not only sudden, but also me seemingly visualizing over and over again the way that it happened and not being able to help wondering if you knew that you were about to die. Bo, I am so sorry that your young, loving, ambitious and precious life ended this way. But NEVER again can anyone hurt you as you are now and forever safe in the arms of God.

Bo, may all of your dreams be fulfilled today on your birthday as you are alive in the presence of God. Heaven is a place of perfection, a place where no desires go unfulfilled, a place of joy, safety and love.

A child's death makes us realize how little control we have in life. Trusting God and leaning on Him is the only way to survive. God promises reunion with those who have entered into Glory ahead of us!!! What a wonderful day that will be when your family and friends reunite with you.

Love, Bo's Mom,
Sherry Moore

News from Family Worship Center

By Aline Matlock

The church enjoyed a picnic last Sunday at the home of Brother and Sister Gates. The days was beautiful and food was good.

Not long ago I heard a message preached by our pastor and the song he sang was called The Anchor holds in spite of the storm. It was a blessing to all of us.

He spoke on Paul's journey to Rome, Acts 27. Paul was on a ship with other prisoners, and the ship was put out to sea. There arose a great wind causing much havoc and even to where many could be killed. Paul knowing what could be disastrous for those on board gave out a warning, but the people desired to believe someone else.

Our storms today are almost the same. Trials and troubles come out of nowhere. Paul, knowing what storms could do to a boat, he told them to lighten the ship. Our storms today are caused by desiring to have much and not being content with what we have. We need to lighten the load we are carrying and we'll feel a lot better.

Storms are made by us that cause much distress to us and others. Failing to ask God for His approval in every phase of our lives. Today there are storms of financial worry, children with many problems andadults trying to seek after things other than Godly.

Even when favorable circumstances come our way. That does not mean we are in God's will always. I have learned that even if the storms are fierce, and seem to overwhelm us, my God is in the midst of the storms. Paul gave wonderful instruction to those on board. Get ride of everything that would keep you from being saved.

There are things we need to get rid of holding us back from God. Our load will be lighter and when we put God first, the joy will be there.

Paul told them to stay with the ship. It was a place of safety, security and a shelter from the storm. The same today. Stay where God has put you, Jesus is our shelter and safety and security.

Have we ever wondered why there are storms in our lives? These are for us to trust God more. In our lives we see much heartache and sorrow, in the near future God will reveal His plan to us. Also he will become more important in our lives. Our main thing is trusting God in all of these things, God becomes our anchor and like the song says, "It Holds."

Highland United Methodist Church news

Sunday, Oct. 7, began as a gloomy, cloudy day, but before services were over our physical and spiritual clouds were lifted as the sun and the Son of God shone brightly.

During Sunday school time, Jo Ann Elliott put in birthday money for her little grandson, Reiker Elliott, who became two. Jo Ann will also be sharing a poem at homecoming.

Prayer requests were for Barbara Young (medication change), and Mrs. Betsy Smith. Ron Hunkins gave an update on his chemo treatments which are nearing completion. He explained that there would be a follow-up evaluation of his status. Hank Senior, Danville, was admitted to the hospital Sunday.

Rev. Scilley thanked Janice Smith, Ellen Hunkins, Doris Scilley and Frankie Young for cleaning the church, and Buddy Young had painted and cleaned at home some church items. These were special preparations for the upcoming homecoming, Oct. 21. The homecoming service will begin at 10:45 instead of 11 a.m. on that Sunday.

Marvin Rogers and Carl Elliott were our offertory ushers.

The message based on scripture from 1 Corinthians 11:23-26, was read by Tyler McGuffey. Since it was World Wide Communion Sunday, the message emphasized the topic, "I love you", "I forgive you", "Supper's ready". It is made extra special as Christians from several denominations and from around the world mark this special Sunday.

After the message, most everyone knelt at the altar to pray and receive Holy Communion which lifted our hearts and spirits. Kneeling with so many family members and friends in a spirit of love and togetherness is something to behold!

Dawn and Scot Cheetham and Doug May worked with the children. Special insights were gleaned by the adults from one of the children as they discussed the Lord's Prayer. From the mouths of babes come much wisdom, says the scriptures.

After choir practice, those that remained shared in eating a wonderful meal and shared in fellowship with one another.

Remember the homecoming October 21.

Feel free to worship with us each Sunday at 10 and 11 a.m. at the little white United Methodist Church beside the road.

News from New Covenant Church

By Bethany Rowland

Both services at New Covenant on Sunday, Oct. 7, were out of this world. The power of God was there in such an overwhelming way that no one wanted to leave.

The morning song service was led by the wonderfully anointed Cannon Trio from Florida, followed by a wonderful message on "The call to the intercessor" by Bro. Donnie Gorum, also of Florida. His text being from Romans 8:24-26. When we have a prayer life and relationship with God, His spirit will take over and teach us what to pray. When we call out on behalf of someone else we can be the intercessor between them and the throne of God. There is an amazing power in prayer.

Sunday night's service was equally filled with the overwhelming power of God. Bro. J.R. Skaggs gave a wonderful sermon on "When shortcuts come up short", reading text from Exodus 13:17-19. The children of Israel had just escaped Pharoah's rule. They did not want to wander around, trying to figure out what to do next. They certainly didn't want to wander in the wilderness for forty years. They wanted the shortest route possible. They wanted to go straight from bondage to the promised land with no inbetween. Isn't that how we all feel about life? We want to get to the "good stuff" as fast as possible, taking the fastest route, but life and road to God's promises is filled with many detours and road blocks. But, those road blocks get you to the exact place that you need to be. If He sent you straight into the promised land from bondage you wouldn't know how to handle it. He has to slowly ease you into peace and contentment when you have gone so long in pain and discomfort. It only took God a day to bring Israel out of Egypt, but it took 40 years to bring Egypt out of Israel. You are delivered from bondage and sin, but it can take time to be completely rid of it and ready for the promise. Trust in God's timing, in His will, in His "detours" and know that when He knows you are ready, He will grant you entrance to His many promises.

To hear this wonderful message and many others visit our website at Newcovenantholiness.webs.com and come out and be with us Sunday mornings at 11 a.m., Sunday evenings at 6 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome for praise and worship services and for our Trinitarian outreach programs. You can find all outreach programs and other upcoming events on our website along with many links and Bible studies.

News from Fairview Baptist Church

By Shelby Lakes

For the last two Sundays, Bro. Johnny Baker has talked of the pains and hurts of life, and the reality of living with one foot in Heaven and one on Earth, where we experience the effects of the sins of the Garden of Eden.

It is easy to react to the love of Christ, even his chastisements, but when we have to wait for him to act, that's when we have problems with our faith, Bro. Johnny said.

He gave an example that is in John 11:1-44. In these verses, Mary and Martha sent someone to Jesus to inform him that their brother Lazarus was sick. When he had heard this, Jesus said, "This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby."

Then Jesus stayed for two days where he was, and then began the trip to where Lazarus, who had died, was. When Jesus arrived, Lazarus had been dead for four days.

Martha met him on the way and told Jesus if he had been there, Lazarus would not have died. Jesus told her Lazarus would rise again, saying, beginning in verse 25, "I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live; And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?" Martha said, "Yea, Lord: I believe that thou art the Christ, the Son of God, which should come into the world."

Then Martha went back to her home, and Mary went to meet Jesus and told him if he had been there, Lazarus would not have died. Then Jesus went to the cave where Lazarus was, and ordered the stone covering the opening to be removed, and told Martha, "Said I not unto thee, that, if thou wouldest believe, thou shouldest see the glory of God?"

Then Jesus prayed and called for Lazarus to come forth; then Lazarus came forth, wrapped in graveclothes.

Bro. Johnny said this is only one example of having to wait for God to act in ways we think he should, that God has his reasons for making us wait, or for not answering our prayers, our wishes. In Lazarus' case, it was to glorify God.

Bro. Johnny cited other scripture in which God gives reasons for what he does: Mark 4:35-41; John 14:13; Romans 9:17; and 1 Peter 2:12. Bro. Johnny asked if it bothers us that God seeks his own glory, and said God shows how merciful he is by listening to foolish men and sending his son to the cross as a sacrifice for them.

God will ultimately bring healing to us, Bro. Johnny said. If not on this side of Heaven, he will bring it there. (End of sermon summary)

Announcements: Our Fall revival will be Oct. 28-31; Bro. Lester Tirey will be our guest. On Oct. 19 and 20, our Haiti team will have a fundraiser at Walmart.

Celebrating recent birthdays are Dorothy Wilder, Cade Jenkins, June Callahan, Lesa Cook, Sandra Davidson and Gary Chistison. Celebrating anniversaries were Gill and Doris Crouch, and Karen and Shelby Lakes.

110 attended Sunday school. 175 were present for the worship service.

Absolute Estate Auction
of the Late Ms. Doris Vanhook's Brick House & 112 Acre Farm in Tracts & Hay & Farm Machinery

Saturday, October 20, 2012 at 10:30 A.M.

16987 Highway 27 South – Waynesburg, KY

DIRECTIONS: From the intersections of Hwy 27 and Hwy 70 at Eubank, continue on Hwy 27 approximately two miles to the property. From Stanford, take Hwy 27 South approximately 13 miles to the property. Auction signs are posted.

In order to settle the estate of the Late Ms. Vanhook, the executor of her estate has authorized our firm to sell this picturesque property with home plus personal property at absolute auction.

Tract 1: Containing 10.20 acres and being accessed from Muncy Road, this tract is all cleared productive crop land. There is a pond for stock water.

This tract is improved with the above pictured brick house. It has a living room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms, full bath and a full unfinished basement.

Tract 2: Being the largest of the tracts, this 40.89 acres is mostly cleared fertile farmland. This tract is accessed from Clearfork and Muncy roads. There is a small portion of woodland and there is also a pond.

Tract 3: Having 24.76 acres, this tract is another tract of prime productive farmland. This tract fronts Clearfork Road approximately 192 ft., has city water available and does have a pond.

Tract 4: Tract #4 measures 19.72 acres and again is primarily productive farmland. It fronts Clearkfork Road approximately 192 ft. and has city water available.

Tract 5 and Tract 6: These tracts measure 4.51 and 5.11 acres respectively. These are those hard to find small acreage tracts. Tract #5 fronts Clearfork Road approximately 184 ft. (there is a barn on Tract #5) and Tract #6 has frontage along Hwy 27 (608 ft) and can also be accessed from Clearfork Road. City water is available to these tracts.

Tract 7: Tract #7 measures 7.53 acres and fronts Hwy 27 approximately 557 ft. This tract is all cleared and could easily be utilized for commerical or agricultural use.

HAY: 100 ROUND BALES OF HAY

The following items have been consigned to the auction and are not part of the Vanhook Estate.

EQUIPMENT: 530 Case Tractor with Front End Loader * 847 New Holland Hay Baler * Vicon Disc mower * 250 Gallon Crop Spray * 3 pt. hitch seed sower * John Deer Mowing machine * Hay rake * Hay elevator * 1997 Chevy diesel pick-up truck * E-Z Go Golf Cart.

AUCTIONEERS NOTE: In its entirety, this property contains a total of 112 acres m/l by survey. This is your opportunity to purchase a building tract, mini farm or commercial property along Highway 27 in Lincoln County on Saturday, October 20th at 10:30 A.M.

TERMS: 20% down the day of the auction with the balance due in full within 30 days for the real estate. The hay and equipment must be paid for in full the day of the auction. We will accept cash, check or VISA/Mastercard in full.

Note: A 6% buyer's premium will be added to the last bid to determine the final sales price on the real estate.

Note: This will be a multi-parcel absolute auction, giving each and every prospective purchaser the ability to purchase any or all tracts or combination of tracts.

Note: The purchaser of a single-family residence built before 1978 has a period of ten days to inspect the property for the presence of lead based paint. The inspection period is October 9th through October 19th. The successful bidder must sign a waiver of the 10-day post-inspection period.

AUCTIONEER/BROKER/SELLER DISCLAIMER: The information contained herein is believed to be correct to the best of the auctioneer's knowledge. The information is being provided for the bidder's convenience and it is the bidder's responsibility to determine the information contained herein is accurate and complete. The property is selling in its "as-is" condition with no warranties express or implied.

Permanent prescription drug take back boxes in place

Lincoln County is the recent recipient of a Permanent Prescription Drug Take-Back box through the donation of Bluegrass Prevention Center, substance abuse prevention program of Bluegrass Regional MHMR Board, Inc.

Bluegrass Prevention secured funding for these boxes through a grant from the Division of Behavioral Health called Changing of Social Norms and policies (CSNaP).

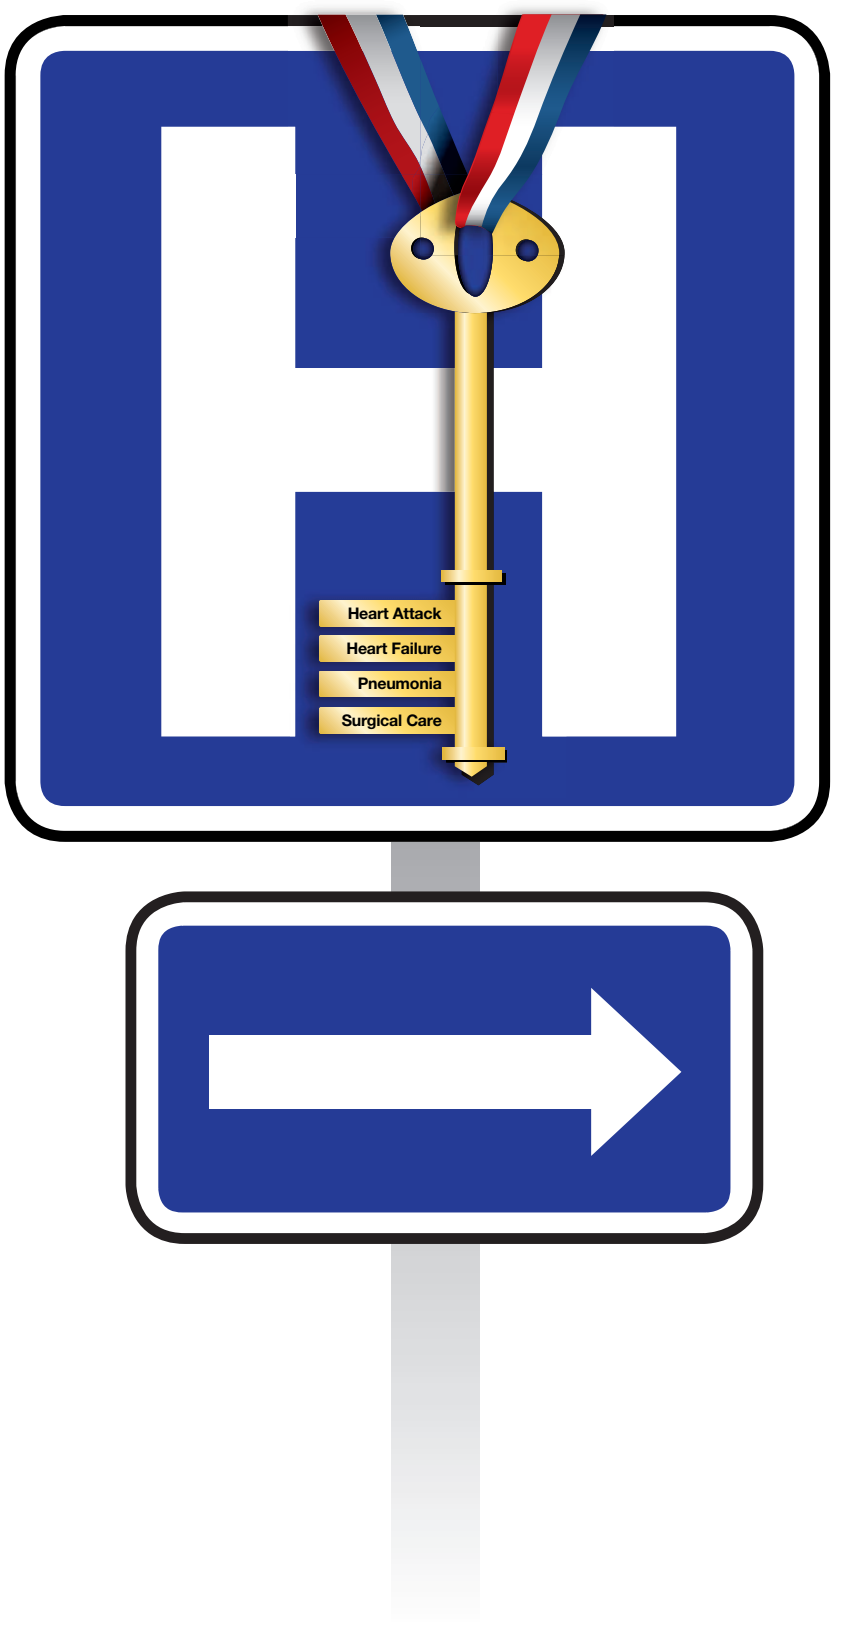

By collaborating with the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, residents of Lincoln County have the benefit of daily disposal for expired, unused or unwanted medications safely, securely and in an environmentally sound manner. The permanent take-back boxes are located in the lobby of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office. They volunteered to house and protect the integrity of the box by having it in a secure, safe location.

Prescription drug abuse in the United States is increasing at a disturbing rate, especially for teenagers who report they can easily obtain prescription pills from medicine cabinets in their own and other people's homes. Teens have reported that prescription drugs are safer than illicit drugs because a physician prescribes them. More than 12 million people reported using prescription painkillers non-medically in 2010, that is, using them without a prescription. (SAMHSA).

According to the Center for Disease Control, nearly 115,000 people die every year of overdoses involving prescription painkillers. In 2010, 1 in 20 people in the U.S. (age 12 or older) reported using prescription painkillers for non-medical reasons in the past year. Enough prescription painkillers were prescribed in 2010 to medicate every American adult around-the-clock for a month. Storing unwanted or expired medicines in homes contributes to the epidemic of prescription drug abuse and accidental poisonings.

One way to reduce the accessibility of prescription drugs is to properly dispose of them in a safe and environmentally friendly manner. The Permanent Take Back Box provides just an opportunity for the residents of Lincoln County. Now is the time for each individual to go through all medications and weed-out all those that are expired or no longer needed. Take them to Lincoln County Sheriff's Department to become part of the solution.

In celebration of the new TAKE BACK BOX, there will be a kick off day on Saturday, Oct. 20, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office. Officials will be present to accept any outdated or unwanted medications. You may pull up and an official will take the medications and put them in the box or you may come in and drop it off yourself. Light refreshments will be available.

David S. Mercer received the "Mr. John J. Guenther Intelligence Civilian of the Year" award recently at the annual Marine Corps Association & Foundation Intelligence Awards Dinner in Arlington, Va.

Stanford native wins prestigious award for service in U.S. Marine Corps

Stanford native David S. Mercer was awarded the "Mr. John J. Guenther Intelligence Civilian of the Year" award at the annual Marine Corps Association & Foundation Intelligence Awards Dinner on Friday, Sept. 21 at the Crystal Gateway Marriott, in Arlington, Va.

The dinner served as an opportunity to recognize the excellent efforts of Marines in the intelligence field.

"MCA&F is proud to recognize these Marines for their exceptional achievement and duty to the Corps," said MajGen Edward G. Usher III, USMC (Ret) and President/CEO of the MCA&F. "That's why the MCA&F exists. We encourage continued education, first-rate leadership and career advancement. We honor the professional excellence of Marines who serve our county every day."

David Scott Mercer

This prestigious award is a trophy given for outstanding dedication and is presented annually in recognition of Mr. John J. Guenther, a former Marine with 30 years of service.

David Scott Mercer enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1988. After graduation from Boot Camp he attended the Signals Intelligence Communicator School, graduating in 1989. He served in a variety of billets with 2d Marine Air Wing (MAW), Marine Cryptologic Support Battalion, Marine Corps Forces Reserve, 1st MAW, Marine Corps Systems Command, Headquarters Marine Corps, and served two tours as a Marine Security Guard. Mercer received a Bachelor of Science in Information Technology from the University of Maryland, University College in 2004 and retired from the Marine Corps in 2008.

Since his retirement in 2008, Mercer has worked at the Marine Corps Intelligence Activity and is the Director of the Sensitive Compartmented Information (SCI) Enterprise Office.

Praise the Lord! What a wonderful week it has been to serve Him. We serve a God who is high and lifted up, and His word says that "when I am lifted up, I will draw all men unto me." We pray that you are lifting the Lord up daily, and that you find your soul lifted up as you travel through the day.

The youth at GRPC enjoyed a fun-filled Saturday night at the Devine Corn Maze. It was a great evening and the kids had a wonderful time. Youth stay tuned because Saturday, October 20 you are heading out to Kings Island. Be sure to put your name on the sign-up sheet in the back of the church to reserve your spot.

Everyone is invited to come out and participate in the annual Dix River Coon Club auction and hunt. This event will be held Saturday, October 13 and it benefits the Appalachian Children's Home in Barboursville. One hundred percent of their proceeds go to support these children. There will be a youth coon hunt on Friday night and the auction and food will be Saturday starting at 2 p.m. The treeing contest starts at 6 p.m. and the buddy hunt will be starting at 8 p.m. You don't want to miss this, there is something for everyone. Come on out and bring a friend. If you would like to make a donation, please contact Linda or Johnny Walls at 606-365-2905.

Come on out Sunday morning, October 14 to enjoy a message from our friend Pastor Webbie Williams. Pastor Williams is a partner in our work in Haiti and has worked alongside us for several years now. Pastor Williams was the founder of the orphanage in Haiti, Green River Pentecostal Church and The Way of Jesus Orphanage. Church starts at 10:30 a.m.

Please continue in prayer for the people in our church who are going through sickness, and remember Sis. Carolynn Snow, as they continue to recover. As always be in prayer for our community, church and our country. Let us not forget to pray always for Israel.

Think on this: "Gracious is the Lord, and righteous; yea, our God is merciful." Our God is gracious and merciful. There is nothing too big for God to handle or understand. Why do we spend so much time trying to hide things from God? We should build a relationship with Him, one in which we entrust Him with our deepest cares, worries and decisions. Rejoice for the Lord is good. Happy Serving!

Pleasant View Baptist Church news

By Scena Ann Petrey

To open worship services on Sunday, Oct. 27, Charlotte Abel sang a special that requested, "May the mind of Christ, my Savior, live in me from day to day."

That was a prelude to the morning message that came from Genesis 1:1-3 and was entitled "The Beginning of Creation."

Bro. Kyle began his message by saying that understanding who we really are changes our minds about ourselves. The word "Genesis" means the beginning or the origin. From Genesis, God tells us who we are and who He is. In the beginning there was nothing but God; everything in the world was created by God. God creates; we make. We cannot create anything because we start with something God has created.

God did not create the world because he HAD to, but because He WANTED to. God hides us, protects us, provides for us; He actually hovers over us. Thus, He has everything in control. What a peace that should give each of us!

Sunday evening services began with Baylor and Brooklyn Adams and Kalyn Peek singing "I Will Rise." Bro. Kyle began a series of "lessons" that will answer "Tough Questions" we may have about the Bible. Sunday evening's question was "What Is Election". The answer - anyone who places his faith in Christ is of the elect.

Al and Sharon Carpenter have invited the church to join in with them Saturday, Oct. 13, to a wedding reception from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Community Arts Center in Danville.

We extend sympathy and prayers to Anita and Carman Foley. Her brother-in-law and his aunt passed away last week. We also extend sympathy and prayers to Al Carpenter. His uncle Bob Joseph passed away last weekend.

The next senior adult luncheon will be Wednesday, Oct. 24.

Join us on Sunday, Oct. 28 from 4 to 7 p.m. at the church shelter for games, candy, crafts, pumpkin carving, outdoor concert, costume contest, a meal, and lots of fun. It will be a great time for all ages.

The deadline to sign up for the Naco Mission trip scheduled for Feb. 2-9, 2013 is Oct. 28. For more information, contact Mike Bastin at (859) 749-2642.

Pleasant View will conduct classes for discipleship ministry that will refresh the body and renew the mind. These will start on Jan. 6 at 6:30 p.m. and deal with different subjects. We have until the first of December to sign up for the one of our choice.

This year the Operation Christmas Child "anticipates an important milestone in its history - 100 million gift-filled shoe boxes since 1993. Your shoe boxes represent more than smiles and laughter, they become Gospel opportunities that open doors to share the love of Jesus Christ with children and their families around the world. We will give God all the praise and look forward to the best Operation Christmas Child season ever!" (Franklin Graham). Collection week for our Christmas shoe boxes will be Nov. 12-19.

Thought for the week: "No one ever choked to death swallowing his pride!"

FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered September 23, 2011, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 9610 US Highway 27 South, Waynesburg, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, October 26, 2012, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake in the east edge of the right of way of New Highway 27, being the southwest corner of Ollie Singleton's land, thence running eastwardly with Singleton's line 326 1/2 feet to a stake in the line of said Singleton and Lester Mullins, a new corner, thence in a southerly direction a new line a distance of 100 feet to a stake, a new corner, thence running in a westwardly direction a distance of 326 1/2 feet, a new line, to a stake set in the east edge of the right of way of said highway, new corner, thence running in a northerly direction with the east edge of said highway a distance of 100 feet to the point of beginning.

This being the same property acquired by Tabitha L. Bennett, a single person, by deed from June E. Miller, a single person, dated October 13, 2003, of record in Deed Book 338, Page 764, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2012 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $72,050.85 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

Fire Department firefighters and others.

Doctors have told Jalen he cannot put any weight on his broken leg for eight more weeks. While he is currently wheelchair-bound, Jacqueline said it's possible Jalen may be able to begin using crutches next week, at which point he could begin some physical therapy.

While at home, he has a bed set up in the living room and he finds comfort in visits from friends, watching ESPN and playing XBox, Jacqueline said.

There is no estimate at the moment for how long it will take for Jalen to recover full use of his leg.

"They said it really just depends on his rehab, on how well he does," Jacqueline said.

Following news of Jalen's injury, there has been a massive outpouring of support from the local community and from around the nation.

Jacqueline said last time she counted, people from 28 states and at least four different countries had heard of Jalen's situation and pledged to pray for him via the Facebook group "Praying for Jalen."

Get-well cards, food and other gifts have flowed in from the local community and one man from Jalen's church even built a wheelchair ramp for him that was installed and ready to go when he got home from the hospital Friday.

"It's been unbelievable," Jacqueline said. "You know that people care about you, but when something like this happens and that many people step up and offer help and support and prayers, it's remarkable."

Jalen's father, J, said the family doesn't have a handle yet on how much the medical bills for Jalen's treatment will total, but it will be "a bunch."

A fundraiser to help Jalen's family pay his medical bills has been scheduled for 1-5 p.m. Oct. 28 at the L&N Depot in Stanford.

The fundraiser will include a corn hole tournament, silent auction, zumba and many other events.

Jacqueline said the experience has taught her to never take anything for granted.

"You never imagine your child getting on a hayride and it turning out like this, with him facing what he's facing now," she said. "You never know day-to-day what's going to happen."

K-PREP

the major way scores were determined. Under K-Prep, academic achievement is just a small piece of the overall score.

Under K-PREP, academic achievement only makes up 30 percent of each elementary school's total score, 28 percent of Lincoln Middle School's score and just 20 percent of Lincoln High School's score.

Schools' scores are now substantially affected by how individual students improve in proficiency over time and how well low-income, special-education, minority and English-language-learner students perform.

At the middle and high school levels, scores also account for how well students are prepared for college or a career.

"It's new, it's rather complicated, and I think it's especially complicated for those outside of education because … as parents or community members, we're used to looking up numbers from the past and saying, 'OK, how are we doing?" Hart said. "I'm intrigued to open these scores. We don't know if the schools that have performed really well in the past will perform as well."

Hatter said even though it's hard to guess how individual schools' scores will change, she expects to see a "move toward the mean," with previously-high-scoring schools losing more off their scores than previously-low-scoring schools.

"You won't be able to make a standard score comparison (year over year), but you will be able to see how you ranked compared to other schools," Hatter said. "It will be a good way to see if you've moved up in rank."

Lincoln County High School Principal Tim Godbey told Stanford City Council members Oct. 4 he expects his students to be an exception to the rule of lower scores.

Even with K-PREP's higher standards, Godbey said he feels the high school's progress has been so monumental that it will be one of the few schools in the state to see its scores go up.

"That's not official by any means," Godbey said. "But we feel like by our preliminary work that that's what has happened."

Hatter said work done across the district to improve performance following the high school's classification last year as a persistently low-achieving school has helped improve students' performance.

As a result, scores may not drop as drastically as they might have otherwise, she said.

"I think we've taken some steps to mitigate the impact of those higher standards," she said.

Hatter and Hart said the scoring change is a good move that will help the Lincoln County School District improve students' outcomes.

Hatter said the new standards are in-line with national expectations, meaning students who meet the "proficient" level now will be better prepared to find work and contribute anywhere in the world.

"Students in Kentucky are not just going to compete … with students from Kentucky," she said. "They're going to be national and international citizens now."

Hart said the new scoring system provides much more detail on individual student performance, allowing for more focus on helping students if they begin to fall behind.

"You want to be able to determine as a parent and an educator if each individual child is able to make academic progress," she said. "I think (the new system) is good. It's just so new that to be able to clearly articulate exactly how it's calculated is somewhat difficult."

The new scores will be given to the school district later this month, and then released to the public a couple weeks later. The scores will be presented in a new "school report card" that is "replete with information" breaking down school performance in many different areas, Hart said.

"We are all learning this just as fast and furious as everyone else," she said.

Hall and the individual they were looking for at the residence. When Hall saw the deputies, he took off running, Kirkpatrick said.

"We've been trying to find him for a while on these warrants, and every time we get close, he takes off running," Kirkpatrick said.

Kirkpatrick said he was called to the scene after Hall fled and he pursued Hall with his K-9 partner, Ingo. Kirkpatrick and Ingo tracked Hall through a field to a wooded area, at which point Hall emerged and turned himself in, according to a press release.

Kirkpatrick said Lincoln County charges against Hall are pending and the case is still under investigation.

School board approves plan to buy new buses

By Ben Kleppinger
ben@theinteriorjournal.com

STANFORD — The Lincoln County School Board has approved a plan that could allow the district to replace its active buses every 14 years at little or no net cost to the district.

Ronnie Deatherage, chief deputy of quality support, told board members reimbursements available from the state would make upgrading the district's aging fleet possible.

The Kentucky Interlocal School Transportation Association repays school districts a percentage of the cost of new buses every year for 10 years, with the repayments totaling 100 percent of the cost to buy the buses new.

Deatherage said after the first 10 years, KISTA also offers bonus reimbursements of 6 percent of the cost for four more years.

That means the district would be paid 124 percent of the original cost of each new bus over the course of 14 years.

Deatherage recommended the board purchase one special-needs bus and three standard buses at a total cost of $398,556.

During the 14 years the buses would be in reimbursement, the district would be reimbursed a total of about $470,000, which should cover the cost of the new buses and the financing cost of about $72,000, making the plan potentially cost-neutral, Deatherage said Tuesday.

Lincoln has used the KISTA reimbursement option for bus purchases in the past, but currently only 37 of the district's 73-bus fleet are new enough to still be generating reimbursement payments from the state.

The remaining 36 buses in the fleet are more than 14 years old and no longer receive reimbursement payments. Eleven of those are about two decades old, according to information provided by Deatherage.

The district currently uses 21 buses that are more than 14 years old on daily routes. Other old buses are used as back-ups when active buses need repairs.

Deatherage submitted a plan for regular bus replacement through KISTA reimbursements that could keep Lincoln County on a continuous 14-year bus-replacement cycle.

Under Deatherage's plan, the school would buy four new buses eligible for KISTA reimbursement every year. Every fourth year, the school would purchase an additional KISTA-reimbursement-eligible bus. Over 14 years, the plan would replace each one of the district's 59 active buses.

School Board member Tim Jackson said he would like to know if the district could purchase one of the four buses outright and save on the financing costs.

Deatherage confirmed Tuesday if the school finds enough money to purchase one of the buses outright that the bonus reimbursements at the end of the bus' 14-year life would be money in the bank for the district, since it wouldn't have had to pay any finance charges.

Board members were unsure whether initial costs for buying the buses could be payed out of the school's capital outlay fund or would need to come out of the general fund.

The board voted unanimously to commit to purchasing the buses and work out the details of which fund will cover the initial cost later.

The fence outside the doctors' offices of Bates, Miller and Sims at Fort Logan Hospital is looking a little sexier during October, with hundreds of bras on display for the passing traffic to see.

This is the second year the doctors' office has put on its "Bras for a Cause" fundraiser, promising to donate $1 to Relay for Life for every bra donated during the month of October

Office Manager Jennifer Walls said last year, Bates, Miller and Sims collected nearly 1,100 bras and donated $1,100 to Relay for Life.

One woman, a breast cancer survivor, managed to collect 500 bras last year, and she is already up to more than 100 this time around, Walls said.

Hustonville man charged with DUI after crashing into house

DANVILLE — A Hustonville man faces multiple criminal charges after allegedly driving drunk Friday night and crashing the vehicle into a Danville house, police said.

About 9:25 p.m. Friday, Danville police responded to 802 E. Main St. where a vehicle had crashed into the house. The driver, later identified as Joseph D. Morris, 38, of Hustonville, allegedly fled the scene of the wreck on foot, police said.

Authorities soon apprehended Morris at Long Run Apartments. He was charged with first-degree fleeing and evading and aggravated driving under the influence.

The vehicle Morris was driving was registered to Margaret Gooch of Hustonville, police said.

Lincoln grand jury indicts Garrard man on rape charge

STANFORD — A Garrard County man was indicted for rape by a Lincoln County grand jury for allegedly trying to force an acqauintance in to having sex with him.

David T. Hamilton, 21, of Lancaster, was indicted for first-degree rape for allegedly using "forcible compulsion" in attempting to have sexual intercourse with a woman on July 25.

Trooper Paul Blanton said the incident occurred at a duplex near the Land of Goshen subdivision in northern Lincoln County. Blanton described the encounter as attempted "acquaintance rape."

Bond was set at $25,000. Trooper Eric Taylor testified before the grand jury.

Others indicted by the grand jury were:

• James L. Linville, 34, address unavailble, flagrant nonsupport for allegedly falling $8,339 behind in child support payments. Bond was set at $8,000. Dana M. Gander testified.

• Brian Ward, 38, of Harrodsburg, promoting contraband for allegedly having a controlled substance inside the Lincoln County Detention Center on July 20. Capt. J. Parsons of the detention center testified.

• Kirk Lee Goodlett, 39, 3055 Bowen Road, allegedly trafficking in oxycondone on April 18 and May 18. Bond was set at $25,000. Kentucky State Police Detective Keith Addison testified.

• Todd Eric Boyd, 46, Herndon Ave. Apt. 6, criminal mischief for allegedly doing more than $1,000 in damage to property owned by Steven and Shannon Turner in March 2010. Bond was set at $10,000. Shannon Turner testified.

• David W. Roberts, 43, of Cincinnati, and Keesha Saylor Baier, 33, of 45 Rebecca Lane, Stanford, manufacturing methamphetamine and three counts of wanton endangerment for allegedly making meth while armed and placing deputies Ryan Kirkpatrick, Bill Hester and Mickey Taylor in substantial danger on May 1. Bonds were set at $50,000. Kirkpatrick testified.

• Jesse L. Horseman, 26, and James D. Durham, 35, both of Stanford, four counts each of trafficking in cocaine for allegedly selling the drug to a confidential police informant on Oct. 28, Nov. 2, Nov. 17 and Dec. 6. Bonds were set at $25,000 each. Addison testified.

• Richard D. Moore, 34, of Berea, allegedly trafficking in cocaine on Dec. 6. Bond was set at $25,000. Addison tesified.

45th District Volleyball

Lincoln wins district title

By Mike Marsee
marsee@amnews.com

DANVILLE — Last year's disappointment led to this year's celebration for the Lincoln County volleyball team.

The Lady Patriots just missed winning a district title a year ago, and coach Amanda Massey-Wiles said they have been working ever since to be ready for their next opportunity.

They made the most of that chance Tuesday night, sweeping Boyle County in three sets to win the 45th District Tournament championship.

Lincoln pulled out two close sets, then jumped out to a commanding lead in the third to secure their first district title since 2006 and went on to win 25-23, 25-21, 25-13.

"It was a really exciting night to watch the girls work really well together as a team and execute the plans that we made all year," Massey-Wiles said. "The district title has been our goal throughout the season, something that we just missed last year ... so this is something we've had in mind from the very beginning and something the girls have worked really hard for. Lincoln advances to district final with 4-2 win

By Nancy Leedy

For the first time in school history, the Lincoln County boys soccer team is in the position to repeat as district champion.

Lincoln made school history last year by capturing its first-ever 30th District title to advance to regionals. While no longer a member of that district, Lincoln can still repeat as a champion, having earned a shot at the 45th District title by defeating Boyle County 4-2 Monday night in semifinal tournament action at Garrard County Middle School.

Lincoln (11-5) and Boyle (6-11) were in a scoreless deadlock for most of the first half of play. The soccer Patriots drew first blood, with Carter Dunn scoring the game's opening goal with just 8:51 to go in the half.

The Lincoln lead was shortlived, however, as Boyle's Kyle Settle answered less than two minutes later to retie the game at 1-all at halftime.

"I really yelled at them during halftime," Lincoln coach Chaz Garcia said. "I told them, 'If you want Boyle to win, keep playing the way you are.' We didn't play a great first half, but we were still getting the job done. (I told them) 'every good touch you make helps us; every bad touch you make helps them. You have 40 minutes to decide if you want this season to end tonight.'"

The soccer Patriots, who fell 5-4 in overtime to Boyle back on Sept. 27, decided they wanted to play on, and

STANFORD – The Lincoln County girls soccer team's fifth consecutive winning season only got better Monday night as the Lady Patriots defeated Danville 3-0 in the semifinals of the 45th District Tournament

Lincoln's shutout victory, the team's 10th of the season, gave the Lady Patriots (13-3-2) their first district win since 2004, and a shot at the district title Wednesday against Boyle County, the only district team to defeat Lincoln in the regular season.

"They were ready. They've been talking about getting to this next game (championships) all year long," Lincoln coach Andrew Kaiser said. "They came out and played well. I was real proud of them."

Kristen Meece, Maddie Adams and Macy Kaiser scored the goals Lincoln needed to clinch a spot in the district title game and a berth in next week's 12th Region Tournament, with Meece and Adams getting into goal in the first half and Kaiser sealing the win with a second-half goal.

Meece took care of all the scoring Lincoln needed in the 32nd minute of the first half. The sophomore forward dribbled the ball toward goal then, just as Danville defenders Alexa Burks and Fariha Siddiqui collapsed around her, Meece punched in a shot from 20 yards out on Lady Admiral goalkeeper Katie Nelson.

Adams gave Lincoln a 2-0 cushion with just 2 minutes left in the half off a penalty kick. Lincoln earned the PK when Rachel Spangler, who was driving on goal, was tripped in the goal box by Danville's Hibah Siddiqui.

Spangler, Lincoln's leading scorer and one of the best in the area, was denied a goal on the play and for the duration of the game, but that didn't discourage the Lady Pat junior or deter her teammates.

"No, we have a team of great scorers all around, obviously, or we wouldn't have three forwards," said Spangler. "I trust my other teammates and, when I get double-downed or people are holding me, I know that I can look to them to score."

Kaiser said Spangler is always a key player whether she's scoring or not.

"We've got other girls that can do it (score). But we really depend on Rachel," the first-year coach said. "I mean, if she's not scoring, she's able to spread the field, and that really helps the team."

Lincoln stops skid; crushes South Laurel 63-20

Patriots' defense holds Cardinals to negative yards rushing in district rout

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD – Strains of "Oh, Happy Day!" boomed from the Death Valley stadium speakers Friday, and boy, was it ever a happy day for Lincoln County.

After three consecutive losses, the Patriots finally got back on the winning track on homecoming night, scoring early and often as they cruised 63-20 over South Laurel for their first district win.

Lincoln scored six first-half touchdowns to open up a 42-6 lead over South Laurel and never looked back.

"There's no doubt the first half was tremendous. We came out and played well and played hard. We controlled the line of scrimmage," Lincoln coach Mike Settles said. "We needed a win so bad. This has been three weeks coming and it feels great. There has been a lot of adversity the past several weeks and for us to turn it around is great."

Marvin Robinson and Logan Martin helped lead Lincoln to the win, with Robinson rushing for a game-high 125 yards with three touchdowns on 11 carries and Martin getting 101 yards and three touchdowns on 16 carries in a 348-yard offensive effort, all of it on the ground.

"If you control the line of scrimmage like we did tonight, you really don't need to throw it," Settles said. "They loaded the box, I mean, they had 10 guys from tight end to tackle on us, and they just dared us to throw the ball. But we really didn't need to because we were opening the seams. Our offensive line really played well tonight."

used the second half to put the game away.

Royce Cummins put Lincoln on top to stay with 14 minutes left in the game. Then older brother Carl-Lewis Cummins played a great through ball to Dunn for his second goal and a 3-1 edge. Carl-Lewis tallied his own goal before the final horn, rocketing in a shot to the back of the net from 25 yards out to make it a 4-1 ball game.

"We played a great second half," Garcia said. "I'm really proud of our boys. They showed they wanted it."

Boyle pushed in a final goal with seven seconds left, capitalizing on a Lincoln miscommunication to put the ball past goalkeeper Ian Blevins for the 4-2 final.

Lincoln will play Danville (10-7-2) for the district title Wednesday night at 7 p.m. at Garrard Middle.

Danville rolled 10-0 over Garrard County (5-7-1) to reach the championship game.

"We have a tough game Wednesday night. Danville is well coached and ready to play." Garcia said.

LINCOLN sophomore Royce Cummins (7), pictured in regular-season action against Garrard, scored a goal in the soccer Patriots' 4-2 win over Boyle County in the 45th District Boys Soccer Tournament at Garrard County Middle.

vs. NOTICE OF SALE

ALLEN C. TURPIN ET AL — DEFENDANTS

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 2012, AT 10:00 A.M.
FRONT DOOR, LINCOLN COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Pursuant to a Judgment and Order of Sale of the Lincoln Circuit Court entered May 12, 2008, in the above-styled civil action, the undersigned Master Commissioner will sell the following real property located at 120 Halls Gap Estates, Waynesburg, Lincoln County, Kentucky, at the front door, Lincoln County Courthouse, on Friday, October 26, 2012, at the hour of 10:00 a.m., or as soon thereafter as said property can be sold, said property being more particularly described as follows:

Being known as Lot 18, Section 1, Halls Gap Estates Subdivision, more particularly described as to exact location and dimension on plat recorded in Plat File A-423, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office. Described as: Beginning at a point in the Southeast corner of Lot No. 19 and in the North right-of-way line of Halls Gap Court; thence with the East line of Lot No. 19, N 3 deg. 28 min. E, 150 feet; thence with the south boundary of Lot No. 8 of Phase Two, S 86 deg. 22 min. E, 115 feet to a pin; thence with the west boundary line of Lot 17, S 3 deg. 28 min. W, 150 feet to the North right-of-way line of Halls Gap Court; thence with the North right-of-way line of Halls Gap Court, N 86 deg. 22 min. W 115 feet to the point of beginning.

This being the same property acquired by Allen C. Turpin and Amanda L. Turpin, his wife, by deed from Donald Wooldridge Et Ux dated July 5, 2005, of record in Deed Book 355, Page 330, Lincoln County Court Clerk's Office.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of thirty-three and one-third percent (33 1/3%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale thirty-three and one-third percent (33 1/3%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2012 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $69,863.98 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

they had the mindset to win tonight and not let anything hit the floor. It was straight determination and straight teamwork."

There were smiles all around after the ball fell to the floor on the Boyle side of the net — and a few tears, too. After the Lady Patriots got their hands on the trophy and the requisite photos were taken, senior hitter Samantha Douglas couldn't keep from crying as she remembered her father, Billy, who died May 10 after a battle with lymphoma.

Douglas said this was a match that would have made her father stand and cheer — for more than one reason.

"Every time we play Boyle, the last time we played Boyle it was right on four months since he'd been gone, and tomorrow is his fifth month he's been gone. And my dad always loves when Lincoln beats Boyle in anything. Every game we play against Boyle we always do it for my dad. And every time we come out and play like this, I know my dad's just so proud of all of us and everybody as a team," Douglas said.

Lincoln (15-14) defeated Boyle (12-21) for the second time in three matches, effectively finishing off the Lady Rebels with two significant streaks that might well have been one big one.

"We had heart," Douglas said. "We wanted it, we knew what we had to do to get it, and we did it."

The Lady Patriots rallied from a 20-16 deficit in the second set, scoring five straight points and six of the last seven. Then they scored the first seven points of the third set, and that seemed to take the wind out of Boyle's sails.

"We just had to push it," Douglas said. "We always have slow starts, and we're like, 'We can't do it any more. We've got to step up and take our ground.'"

Massey-Wiles said they have worked on maintaining momentum, and she said that work paid off during the stretch in which they outscored the Lady Rebels 13-1.

"That's something that we have focused on and something that we hoped to execute well, and I think we did," she said.

Vanessa Conley served during both the 5-0 run in the second set and the 7-0 run in the third, and she had three straight aces in the latter run, when Boyle didn't even put a return in play on the first five points.

"She has stepped up quite often throughout the season to get those runs going and give us the momentum that we want through her serving, especially," Massey-Wiles said.

Lincoln also got eight blocks and two other kills from Arienne Stephens. Douglas had six kills, including four in the early stages of the third set to help the Lady Patriots go up 9-1, and Ciara Saylor also had three kills, two aces and a block. All three girls were named to the all-tournament team.

Lincoln won its first district tournament match in four years Monday when it outlasted Garrard County for a 20-25, 27-25, 25-22, 21-25, 15-7 win in the semifinals, and its district title is its first since Massey-Wiles' first season.

The Lady Patriots came close last year during the winningest season in the program's history, losing three close sets to Casey County in the title match. Their win Tuesday put them above .500 for only the second time this season after a 2-6 start that included a loss to Boyle.

"We were still really working on our offense, and I think there were a lot of glitches that needed to be worked out between then and now, and I think they have," Massey-Wiles said.

She also said a new group of leaders has come into its own following the loss of four seniors from last year's team.

"And I think that our leadership this year has done a great job, a fantastic job of stepping up and reshuffling the dynamic and the chemistry," she said.

The Lady Patriots now move on to the 12th Region Tournament next week at Mercer County. Pairings will be drawn Saturday, and the tournament is expected to begin Monday.

Douglas said they'll need to display the same heart they had in their win over Boyle.

"We either have it or we don't," she said. "We've just got to push through it, play like we did tonight and just get as far as we can go."

Lady Pats eke out 3-2 win to advance

By Nancy Leedy

The Lincoln County volleyball team was successful in its post-season opener, ousting Garrard County 3-2 in the 45th District semifinals at Boyle County High School Monday night.

It was a nip-tuck battle between the two teams, with the best of five match going the full five sets. Garrard (9-18) took the first set 25-20, but Lincoln (14-14) came back to win the next two sets 27-25, 25-22. Garrard evened the match up with a 25-21 fourth-set win only to have Lincoln clinch the deciding set 15-7 to advance to the title game.

"All of the first four sets were quite close," Lincoln coach Amanda Massey-Wiles said. "Lincoln lost the first set ... after a slow start. Garrard delivered some heavy serves throughout, which was their strongest aspect of their offense."

"Both teams played hard, but I believe that Lincoln really did a good job of controlling the pace of (second, third) sets, as I think we did throughout the match. Once we got a better handle on dealing with Garrard's stronger servers, we were able to better execute our offense."

After giving up the fourth set to Garrard, Lincoln came back to gain control of the fifth set to earn the Lady Patriots a berth in next week's 12th Region Tournament.

"Everyone expected a battle for the fifth set, but Lincoln was able to establish control early, and to maintain it throughout," Massey-Wiles said. "We stayed steadily ahead of Garrard after the first few plays, and won the match 15-7."

"Communication was key for us in those final sets. Neither team was willing to let their season end easily, and I believe that, although we had some strong plays that were key in this win, that being the consistent team is what ultimately won us the match."

Lincoln seniors Vanessa Conley, Breyanna Hoover and Ciara Saylor were credited by Massey-Wiles for their heady play on court.

"A few star moments were some excellent saves, and setting from Vanessa Conley, and some key, smart and strong attacks from Breyanna Hoover and Ciara Saylor. Ciara's serves were quite effective at breaking down Garrard's serve-receive, as well."

Lady Patriots close regular season with 21 straight goals

By Nancy Leedy

STANFORD – The Lincoln County girls soccer team closed out the regular season with back-to-back solid performances, scoring 21 consecutive goals in shutouts over Somerset and McCreary Central.

The Lady Patriots blanked Somerset 10-0 on the road last Wednesday in a makeup game, then returned home on Thursday to post a 11-0 shutout over McCreary Central on Senior Night.

Fourteen different Lady Patriots got in on the regular-season ending scoring blitz, led by Rachel Spangler with six goals between the two games.

Spangler, a junior forward, dominated in the big win at Somerset by tallying five of Lincoln's goals in the 10-0 rout. Maddie Adams contributed two goals for Lincoln and Kristen Meece, Macy Kaiser and Michaela Sebastian each had one goal.

Spangler was one of 10 Lady Patriots getting in on the 11-0 Senior Night blowout against McCreary Central, knocking in two goals in the game which ended at the half on the mercy rule.

Senior Lady Patriots Megan Yocum and Taylor Faulkner got their Senior Night romp started off right by scoring the game's first two goals. Morgan Gourley followed with a third goal as the list of scorers quickly grew, with Morgan Dennis, Katie King, Taelor Owens, Ashton Huffman, Sissy Slone and even goalkeeper Jerrica Kidd all getting into goal to assure the easy win.

Lincoln outshot McCreary 24-0.

Macy Kaiser's second-half goal, which was one of 16 Lady Patriot shots on goal for the game, came just 2 minutes into the period. Kaiser went long on the goal, lofting in a shot from near the right sideline to the top left corner of the net.

The Lady Patriots showed a 16-9 advantage overall in shots on goal, however, it was the Lady Admirals on top early. Danville (7-8-3) controlled the ball for much of the first 10 minutes, keeping the Lady Patriots out of scoring range.

"We came out just a little bit flat, and then it seemed like we started to get in the groove," Kaiser said. "We had a game last Thursday and practiced Saturday. We had a couple days off, and were not in rhythm. But I felt like we started playing better. They stuck to the game plan and they just worked hard. They won all the 50-50 balls that they could, and I felt like they moved the ball well."

"There's always little things you can work on, always. But, for the most part, I felt like we played really well tonight."

Lincoln goalkeeper Jerrica Kidd and Danville's Nelson were both credited with eight saves. The Lady Patriots had a 3-1 advantage in corner kicks.

With the win, the Lady Patriots move on to Wednesday night's championship game against Boyle County, which will get underway at LCHS at 7 p.m.

Boyle (12-5-3) advanced to the title game with a 10-0 win over Garrard County (5-14-1).

"They're real excited. I'm excited," Kaiser said. "Hopefully we can come out and play well on Wednesday and win the district."

FOOTBALL

From B1

It wasn't only the offense that was setting Lincoln (4-4, 1-2 Class 5A District 7) up for an easy victory. South Laurel (1-6, 0-3) struggled against the Patriots' defense, especially the first half, managing just 81 yards in the first two periods on its strength – the passing game – and being held to minus-7 yards rushing.

The Cardinals, who got on the plus side offensively with 283 passing yards, were intercepted three times in the first half.

Lincoln's Trevor Gaines got the first pick off South Laurel's Tyler Detherage midway through the first quarter to set up the Patriots' first score. Gaines, who had returned the interception for a touchdown only to have it nullified by a penalty, still managed to give Lincoln excellent field position at the South Laurel 25-yard line. Robinson carried the ball all four plays of the drive, finishing with a 3-yard touchdown run.

Detherage, who was 3-for-5 for 58 yards with two interceptions, was picked off again less than four minutes later as the Cardinals drove inside the Lincoln 25. The pass intended for Jason Mitchell, was tipped by Mitchell into the hands of TJ Torres, who then high-tailed it 97 yards to the end zone to put Lincoln up 14-0.

"They throw a lot more than they run the ball so I was just coming out with the mindset, 'I'm going to get an interception, and I'm just going to run as fast as I can and see what I can get with it,'" Torres said. "I'm supposed to stay over the middle, get over top and that's what I did, and I ended up coming up with the pick. That's what Coach wanted me to do. He told me to read the quarterback. I read the guy coming to the middle, and I just knew I had it."

Torres also knew he couldn't have scored on his own, acknowledging the heady play of teammates Deonte Coulter and Dalton Godbey.

"As soon as I scored I told Deonte Coulter and Dalton Godbey, you know, that if they weren't blocking for me that I wouldn't have gotten the interception return, so I thanked them for it and gave them a high-five," he said.

South Laurel would answer Lincoln's big play with one of its own, as Mitchell got back the six points with an 86-yard return on the ensuing kickoff to get the Cardinals on the scoreboard.

That was as close as the Cardinals got, however, as Lincoln rolled off 28 unanswered points in the second quarter.

Coulter got the scoring surge started on Lincoln's next possession, capping off a 73-yard drive with a 31-yard scoring run a minute into the second quarter.

Martin then took over, scoring all three of his touchdowns in the final 6:40 of the first half.

The senior running back scored his first touchdown on Lincoln's next drive. A bad punt snap set Lincoln up at the South Laurel 18 and, four plays later, Martin carried the ball in from the 1. South Laurel fumbled the ensuing kickoff at the Cardinal 32 and Martin ended the short drive with a 4-yard touchdown.

South Laurel was driving inside the Lincoln 30 with just seconds left in the half when Torres came up with his second big pick, this time off Jonathan Jenkins. Torres returned the ball 84 yards before being brought down at the Cardinal 4, and Martin ran the rest of the way to give Lincoln its 42-6 lead.

Lincoln's offense did have its stumbles in the district clash, most notably the third quarter when the Patriots turned the ball over four times, but South Laurel was not able to convert on the miscues until late in the third when Jenkins, who was 21-for-30 for 209 yards with one interception, completed a 35-yard touchdown pass to Jeremy Prichard on 4th-and-8.

Lincoln got the ball back just before the end of the period after a Jenkins fumble to set up a 39-yard touchdown run by Robinson. Robinson scored again early in the fourth on a 25-yard run, and Coulter finished Lincoln's scoring with a 12-yard touchdown.

South Laurel also scored in the final period, with Jenkins hitting Quinn for a 1-yard touchdown.

"Other than (four third-quarter turnovers), we had a lot of fun tonight," Settles said. "We had a lot of guys get in tonight and make plays on both sides of the ball and special teams, as well."

Making plays

PUSH 'EM BACK! Lincoln defender Jonathan Hardwick had South Laurel quarterback Tyler Detherage by the legs on this first-quarter play, above, but it was Taylor Wilson making the diving leap to knock Detherage to the ground to end the carry. At left, Lincoln's Devin Middleton (45) comes away with the football after South Laurel's Taylor Morris (16) fumbled this second-quarter kickoff return. The Middleton recovery at the Cardinal 32 set up another Lincoln touchdown in the 63-20 rout.

"I've got to tell you, it's a lot more fun winning than it is losing, and our kids got to experience that tonight."

FARM FACTS

October beef cattle chores

The cool days of fall always make us appreciate the harvest of crops and livestock and often make us feel like it is time to wind down on outdoor chores. Well, that's a nice thought, but on the farm there is little time to wind down. Chores must go on, so this week I want to share some management chores that beef producers need to be doing at this time.

Wean calves this month and start them on a 45-60 days growing program to increase their value and your profits. If the preweaning working has been completed, revaccinate (booster) calves for H, somnus, BRSV and other diseases. If you vaccinate calves yourself, be sure that you know how to handle vaccines properly. This year for sure, producers should consider feeding weaned calves before selling them. They can make rapid and efficient gains, especially if they are coming off fescue pastures. Consider strip grazing accumulated fescue pasture along with grain feeding. These calves will also do well on hay and grain. These calves will do great in one of the area CPH sales in December. The past few years participants in the CPH Sales realized good premiums on the price per pound and they got good gains on the cattle which resulted in many producers netting $50-$100 more per calf than what they would get in a regular auction sale. You can contact me for CPH details. If you don't sell in a CPH sale, you can still benefit from a vaccinating and health management program. You can enjoy the calf weight gains and then when you go to the stockyards be sure to tell the manager and auctioneer your cattle have been through a weaning program. Generally, you will receive an increase in the price per pound as a result of your work.

Cull cows which are identified as open with a pregnancy check. Cull those that weaned off poor calves, and those that are unsound. Long-term profitability requires that we keep selecting cows, which will reproduce and have good performing calves under our environmental conditions. Sell open cows before winter to cut down on feed costs. You can't afford to keep that cow for another year to get her back in "sync" with your spring breeding program.

Those of you with over 40 cows should keep back the best heifer calves for herd replacements. Calves, which were born early in the calving season, will likely be ready to breed earlier than late-born calves. Begin evaluating them prior to weaning while they are with their dams. Select weanling replacement heifers based on performance and functional traits such as structural soundness, temperament, fleshing ability, muscling and EPD's. If you have a small herd (40 cows or less) you probably should sell your heifers and buy bred heifers. I say this because you will not get any return from your heifers for a long time, so in a small herd, it is often better economics to buy bred replacement heifers, so as to get a quick return on your investment.

Here are some other chores to do this month. Cull herd bulls that are roguish, old, unsound, or questionable in any way. It is not too early to begin thinking about bulls for next year. Remove fly control ear tags from all animals and dispose of according to instructions on package. Treat for grubs/lice. These parasites stress the cattle which thus requires more feed to keep cattle healthy.

Take soil samples for soil analysis to determine pasture and hayfield fertility needs. October is the month to apply phosphate, potash and lime accordingly to your hay and pasture fields.

Test hay for quality and make inventory of hay supplies and needs. We can help you get that done for just $10 per lot of hay sampled.

Remember to supply a good mineral supplement for your cattle at all times. Keep available to them a free choice loose mineral with Rumensin or Bovatec to both stocker cattle and cows. I know the cost is high but the minerals and vitamins are important for cattle health and cattle gains so this is not the time to cut back on minerals.

This is a long list of chores, but most won't take a lot of time or involve a lot of hard work to get good production result and profits. Doing these chores will be time well spent and time that becomes profitable.

Branch View Angus ranked third

Branch View Angus of Hustonville, ranked as third largest in registering the most Angus beef cattle in Kentucky having recorded 171 head of Angus with the American Angus Association during fiscal year 2012, which ended Sept. 30, according to Bryce Schumann, CEO of the American Angus Association.

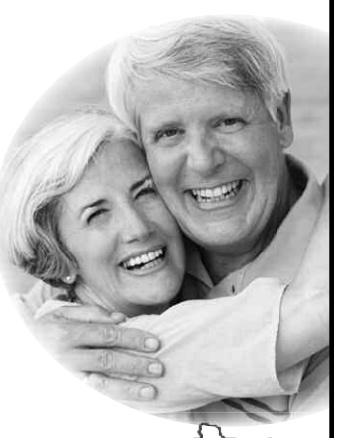

Angus breeders across the nation in 2012 registered 315.007 head of Angus cattle. "Our year-end statistics continue to demonstrate strong demand for Angus genetics and solidify our long-held position as a leader in the beef cattle industry," Schumann said. "These results underscore our members' commitment to providing genetic solutions to the beef cattle industry."

The American Angus Association, headquartered in Saint Joseph, Mo. is the largest beef registry association in the world in terms of both annual registrations and active members. For more information about the Angus breed go to www.angus.org.

Hull attends Commonwealth Honors Academy

Thomas Hull from Lincoln County High School was recently awarded the Certificate of Recognition from the Commonwealth Honors Academy. Tommy and 94 other students completed the three-week Academy at Murray State June 9-30.

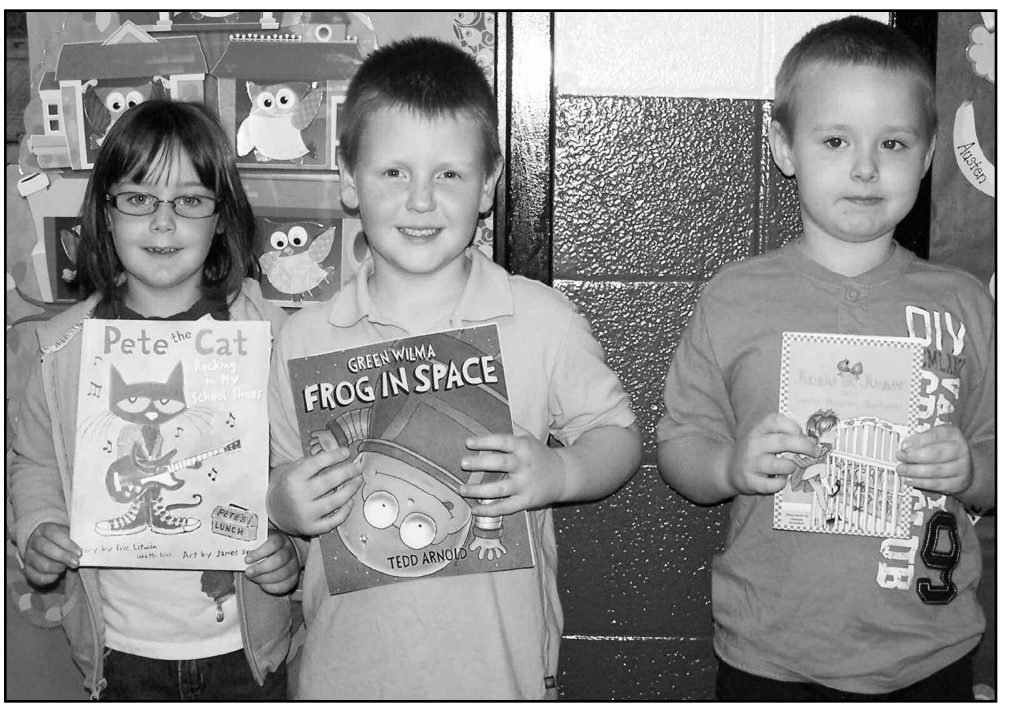

During the three weeks, Academy scholars took two college-level courses, attended multiple lectures, concerts, field trips, and forums, and participated in a tri-weekly personal development seminar. As a successful graduate of the Academy, Tommy will receive six hours of university credit, a $2,000 per year Murray State housing scholarship, and the option to take six additional hours from Murray State tuition free.

The mission of the Commonwealth Honors Academy, currently in its twelfth year, is "to challenge, educate, enlighten, and nurture the next generation of academic, civic, and business leaders in the region. To qualify, students must have a 3.5 GPA on a 4.0 scale and an ACT score of 25 (or equivalent SAT, PSAT, or PLAN scores).

For more information or to find details on applying to the 2013 Academy, please visit the website at www.murraystate.edu/CHA .

MONEY TIPS FOR STUDENTS

Time to start repaying student loans

If you finished college in May and have student loans, it's almost time to begin repaying them. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

One of the smartest things you can do is pay more than your scheduled payment amount. The extra is applied to the principal, so you will pay less interest over the life of your loan.

As a student loan borrower, you should let your lender know if you change your name, address or phone number; if something changes your status, such as going back to school; or if you have problems making your payments.

You have several repayment plans from which to choose. The standard repayment plan calls for equal monthly payments over 10 years. The minimum monthly payment is usually $50. Other options include:

· Graduated repayment, which starts with lower repayment amounts that get higher over the maximum 10-year period.

· Income-sensitive repayment, with monthly payments based on gross income.

· Income-based or income-contingent repayment, with monthly amounts based on income and family size. The maximum period is 25 years, with any balance remaining at the end of 25 years forgiven.

· Extended repayment, which lets you take up to 25 years to repay your student loans if you borrowed more than $30,000 and none of your loans were made before October 7, 1998.

You will pay more interest over the life of the loan if you use any option other than standard repayment.

If you are having trouble making payments, contact your lender immediately. You may qualify for a deferment or forbearance, which can let you make lower payments or stop making payments temporarily.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers Kentucky's grant and scholarship programs, including the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES). It provides financial literacy videos at http://itsmoney.kheaa.com. KHEAA also provides free copies of "It's Money, Baby," a guide to financial literacy, to Kentucky schools and residents upon request at publications@kheaa.com.

The above described real property will be sold and conveyed subject to such valid and existing easements, restrictions, reservations, conditions, covenants and limitations apparent or of record in the chain of title.

The sale of the above real property will be made on a credit of thirty (30) days time with the privilege extended to the purchaser of paying the entire purchase price, or any part in excess of ten percent (10%) thereof, in cash at the time of the sale. If the sale be made on credit, the purchaser shall pay to the Master Commissioner immediately at the time of the sale ten percent (10%) of the total sale price and execute bond for the balance due in thirty (30) days, bearing interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale until paid, with a good and sufficient surety thereon; and the bond shall be secured by a lien upon said property sold which shall have the full force and effect of a judgment. The purchaser may pay the purchase price money due on the bond with accrued interest at any time before maturity.

The real property described herein is to be sold at the time and place stated; and shall be sold free and clear of all liens, indebtedness, interests and claims of the parties hereto, subject to any and all applicable statutory rights of redemption.

All delinquent ad valorem taxes, if any, interest and penalties will be paid out of the proceeds of said sale. The purchaser will be responsible for payment of the 2012 ad valorem taxes.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser with the delivery of the deed of conveyance thereto. The purchaser will be responsible for all risks of loss to the premises upon acceptance of their bid at the time of sale.

The purpose of this sale is to satisfy the judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court in the above-styled action in favor of Plaintiff in the sum of $80,875.73 plus interest, advances for the protection of the property, costs and attorney fees as authorized and provided in said Judgment.

For further information concerning the above sale contact: Hon. Stephanie A. Maguire, Attorney for Plaintiff, Lerner, Sampson & Rothfuss, P.O. Box 5480, Cincinnati, OH 45201-5480, Tel. #513-241-3100.

LEGAL NOTICES

LEGAL NOTICE

An Ordinance amending the Lincoln County budget for Fiscal Year 2012-2013 to include unanticipated receipts in the amount of $10,000.00 from HUD CDBG for Lincoln Manufacturing (Administration) and increasing expenditures in the area of Federal Grants Fund was adopted by Lincoln County Fiscal Court on Tuesday, September 25, 2012, at a regular meeting of the Fiscal Court. A copy of the adopted ordinance with full text is available for public inspection at the office of County Judge/Executive or County Treasurer during normal business hours. (10-11).

AIR QUALITY PERMIT NOTICE
Draft Title V Operating Permit Renewal G-12-001
Tri-K Landfill - Plant I.D. 21-137-00014

Republic Services of Kentucky, LLC dba Tri-K Landfill located at 2157 Highway 151 Rd Frankfort, KY 40601 has applied to the Kentucky Division for Air Quality for a permit to operate a municipal solid waste landfill at 1905 KY 3249, Stanford, KY 40484. The facility is classified as a Title V source because it is required by 52:020 Section (1)(4) to obtain a Title V permit.

An electronic copy of the Division's draft permit should shortly become available at http://air.ky.gov/Pages/PublicNoticesandHearings.aspx. Paper copies of the draft permit and relevant supporting information are available for inspection by the public during normal business hours at the following locations:

Division for Air Quality, 200 Fair Oaks Lane, 1st Floor, Frankfort, KY 40601, phone (502) 564-3999; Division for Air Quality, London Regional Office, 875 S. Main Street, London, KY 40741, phone (606) 330-2080; and the Lincoln County Public Library, 201 Lancaster Street, Stanford, KY 40484, phone (606) 365-7513.

For a period of 30 days the Division will accept comments on the draft permit and afford the opportunity for a public hearing. The first day of the 30 day period is the day after the publication of this notice. Comments and/or public hearing requests should be sent to Mr. James Morse at the above Frankfort address or e-mail James.Morse@ky.gov. Any person who requests a public hearing must state the issues to be raised at the hearing. If the Division finds that a hearing will contribute to the decision-making process by clarifying significant issues affecting the draft permit, a hearing will be announced. All relevant comments will be considered in issuing the proposed permit. U.S. EPA has up to 45 days following issuance of the proposed permit to submit comments. The status regarding EPA's 45-day review of this project and the deadline for submitting a citizen petition will be posted at the following website address: http://www.epa.gov/region4/air/permits/kentucky.htm shortly after the end of this 30-day comment period. Further information can be obtained by calling Ms. Linda Martin at (502) 564-3999.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age or disability in employment or the provision of services and provides, upon request, reasonable accommodation including auxiliary aides and services necessary to afford individuals an equal opportunity to participate in all programs and activities. Materials will be provided in alternate format upon request.

Crab Orchard students dance with a star ballerina

Antoinette Crawford-Willis visited Crab Orchard Elementary School and engaged the students in dance movements that are helpful and fun in learning about reading, math, science and social studies.

By Angela R. Poynter

So you say you can't dance? Many of the Crab Orchard Elementary students thought this of themselves until Antoinette Crawford-Willis came to their school on Wednesday, Sept. 26.

The students found that movement can be fun and helpful in learning about science, reading, math and social studies. Miss A, as the students called her, facilitated a three-day residency with Arts and Humanities teacher, Angela Poynter, at Crab Orchard.

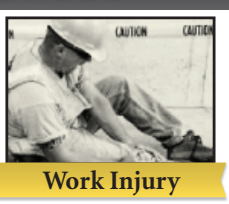

Crawford-Willis is one of three certified dance educators in the state of Kentucky. In addition to holding an MA in Dance Education from The Ohio State University, she is also listed on the National Registry of Dance Educators and will be completing her doctoral degree in higher education and adult learning in October 2012 from Walden University. Crawford-Willis has been traveling the state of Kentucky since 2005 helping teachers with the integration of dance content in the classroom.

Miss A was able to work with all students from kindergarten through fifth grade at Crab Orchard Elementary. Teachers were encouraged to attend one of the sessions as embedded professional development. Miss A taught something different to each class as a way to leave more activities and content for the teachers to work with. The students learned about rhythm, locomotor and nonlocomotor movements, shapes made in their dancing space as well as The Cupid Shuffle, The Cherokee Two- Step and The Healing Dance. Many activities for the younger students were demonstrated and every participant's confidence was boosted about using dance in the classroom.

Lincoln sheriff shares a day in his shoes with kids at library

By Ben Kleppinger

Lincoln County Sheriff Curt Folger was on the job with his drug-sniffing dog Aramis on Saturday, but he wasn't tracking down a meth lab or catching a fleeing suspect.

Folger was teaching half a dozen children at the Lincoln County Public Library about what he does as sheriff.

Folger explained how he chases down the bad guys and also handles collection of taxes. He demonstrated his radio and handcuffs, and explained why he has to carry a Taser and gun.

Folger also let the kids hang out with his deputy K-9, Aramis. Folger explained that Aramis was born and trained in eastern Europe.

Aramis is capable of preventing suspects from escaping and he can sniff out six different kinds of illegal drugs.

Folger said Aramis goes everywhere with him, even coming home with him every night.

"He is with me more than my wife is," he said. "He's like a deputy, too, except he's got four legs where we've only got two."

Children's Librarian Robin Comorat assisted Folger in a demonstration by letting him place handcuffs on her.

Comorat told the kids anyone can grow up to be a sheriff if they want to.

"Our (law enforcement officers) are there to help you," she said. "You should never be afraid of them. They're the good guys."

Hope Clinic and Pharmacy receives funding

The Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation recently received funding from the Heart of Kentucky United Way to be used for Hope Clinic and Pharmacy's projects in 2013.

"We are excited and extremely grateful for receiving this funding from the Heart of Kentucky United Way," says Audrey L. Powell, RN, MSN, FCN, who is Executive Director of the Community Services Department at Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center (EMRMC). "Without this, we would not be able to support the needs of the patients in our communities."

The Hope Clinic, located at 105 Daniel Drive in Danville, is an award-winning community partnership supported by Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation, Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center, Heart of Kentucky United Way, The Salvation Army, Boyle County Health Department, the Presbyterian Church of Danville and a number of other institutions, businesses and volunteers.

The clinic and pharmacy provides free medical care and prescription drugs to residents of Boyle, Casey, Garrard, Lincoln, Mercer and Washington counties who suffer from high blood pressure, high cholesterol, type II diabetes or GERD. Patients cannot be covered by Medicare, Medicaid or private insurance and they must be in the 150th percentile or less of the federal poverty guidelines.

During 2011 the Hope Clinic and Pharmacy provided 223 patients with free health care services that they otherwise could not have afforded, plus 4,453 prescriptions were written to patients and 618 outpatient diagnostic or medical procedures were provided at no charge.

The program is making a huge impact in reducing cardiovascular disease among patients. All patients seen in 2011 had high cholesterol, yet 73 percent of the male patients and 56 percent of the female patients reduced their cholesterol levels as a result of the care provided to them. Patients also reduced their high blood pressure as well as their elevated blood sugars leading to diabetes.

For more information on the Hope Clinic and Pharmacy, please call (859) 236-4473.

Ephraim McDowell welcomes new providers

Dr. Sherene, Pulmonologist

Ephraim McDowell Health welcomed a new pulmonologist on Sept. 4, when Sherene El-Sioufi, DO, FACP, FCCP, FAASM, joined the medical staff. She will practice at Ephraim McDowell Specialty Center.

A board-certified physician, Dr. Sherene earned a bachelor's degree in psychology and biology from Rutgers University in New Brunswick, NJ. She earned her medical degree from University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey – School of Osteopathic Medicine in Stratford, NJ. She completed her residency in internal medicine and a fellowship in pulmonary, sleep and critical care medicine at Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital in New Brunswick, NJ.

Dr. Sherene is board-certified by the American Board of Internal Medicine, the American Board of Pulmonary Medicine, the American Board of Critical Care Medicine and the American Board of Sleep Medicine. She has a special interest in critical care medicine, outpatient and inpatient pulmonary diseases and critical care medicine including procedures such as bronchoscopy, sleep medicine and research regarding sleep apnea, and patient education and health transformation.

Baptist Cardiology Danville physicians, staff

Ephraim McDowell Cardiology is pleased to welcome Baptist Cardiology Danville physicians and staff to its practice. Drs. John Aumiller, Aslam Ahmad, Hussam Hamdalla, Sharat Koul, along with physician assistant Frank Koroluk will be joining Drs. Gary Grigsby, Adrian Messerli and the staff of Ephraim McDowell Cardiology in January 2013.

"We are excited to expand our cardiology practice with the addition of these excellent cardiologists," says Vicki A. Darnell, president and CEO, Ephraim McDowell Health. "It will allow us to better serve our cardiology patients and reaffirms our commitment to quality for which Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center was just nationally recognized."

Drs. Aumiller, Ahmad, Hamdalla and Koul embrace the same high standards of quality and patient care that Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center has become known for.

"We are pleased to be joining the Ephraim McDowell Health team," says Dr. John Aumiller, board-certified cardiologist. "The communities we serve will benefit from the support and technology of the Ephraim McDowell Health system. Our patients can continue to expect us to provide the same great service that they have depended on for years."

Ephraim McDowell Cardiology offers a full range of services for diagnosing and treating diseases of the heart and circulatory system as well as the body's entire vascular services in one of the most advanced cardiac catheterization facilities in Kentucky. EMRMC earns re-accreditation from the Joint Commission

Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center (EMRMC) has earned The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval for accreditation by demonstrating compliance with The Joint Commission's national standards for health care quality and safety in hospitals. The re-accreditation award recognizes EMRMC's dedication to continuous compliance with The Joint Commission's state-of-the-art standards.

The Medical Center underwent a rigorous unannounced on-site survey in December. A team of Joint Commission expert surveyors re-evaluated EMRMC for compliance with standards of care specific to the needs of patients, including infection prevention and control, leadership and medication management.

"In achieving Joint Commission accreditation, Ephraim McDowell Regional Medical Center has demonstrated its commitment to the highest level of care for its patients," says Mark Pelletier, R.N., M.S., executive director, Hospital Programs, Accreditation and Certification Services, The Joint Commission. "Accreditation is a voluntary process and I commend Ephraim McDowell for successfully undertaking this challenge to elevate its standard of care and instill confidence in the community it serves."

"With Joint Commission accreditation, we are making a significant investment in quality on a day-to-day basis from the top down. Joint Commission accreditation provides us a framework to take our organization to the next level and helps create a culture of excellence," says Vicki A. Darnell, president and CEO, Ephraim McDowell Health.

"Achieving Joint Commission accreditation, for our organization, is a major step toward maintaining excellence and continually improving the care we provide."

The Joint Commission's hospital standards address important functions relating to the care of patients and the management of hospitals. The standards are developed in consultation with health care experts, providers, measurement experts and patients.

Founded in 1951, The Joint Commission seeks to continuously improve health care for the public, in collaboration with other stakeholders, by evaluating health care organizations and inspiring them to excel in providing safe and effective care of the highest quality and value. The Joint Commission evaluates and accredits more than 19,000 health care organizations and programs in the United States, including more than 10,300 hospitals and home care organizations, and more than 6,500 other health care organizations that provide long term care, behavioral health care, laboratory and ambulatory care services. The Joint Commission currently certifies more than 2,000 disease-specific care programs, focused on the care of patients with chronic illnesses such as stroke, joint replacement, stroke rehabilitation, heart failure and many others. The Joint Commission also provides health care staffing services certification for more than 750 staffing offices. An independent, not-for-profit organization, The Joint Commission is the nation's oldest and largest standards-setting and accrediting body in health care. We Can Beat Cancer Together

The Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation has contributed more than $680,000.00 in just the past year to improve the health of our communities. Much of that funding has focused on cancer…screenings, doctor appointments, treatment, medicine and follow-up care.

Hundreds of people, maybe your friends or neighbors, co-worker or loved one, have a better chance of beating this horrible disease because of those who helped fund the Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation with a much appreciated donation.

Please help us keep up the fight against cancer. Your donation today may mean that someone you know will have a tomorrow.

Ephraim McDowell Health Care Foundation
